

Ben Zapata's Profile:

Vladimir Ben Zapata, B.A. in Political Science from the University of Southern California (USC), Master's in Educational Administration from the California State University of Los Angeles, Multiple –Subject Teaching Credential with Bilingual Emphasis

I have over 15 years experience working with students from all grade levels. I have taught all subject matters and I am currently a 6th grade English Language Arts & History teacher for the Los Angeles Unified School District. I also have about 10 years teaching experience as an English As a Secondary Language (ESL) teacher for both the Los Angeles Unified School District and the El Monte Unified School District.

I am married with no children and I live in the Pasadena area located within the Los Angeles County. I look forward to meeting students from other parts of the world and providing them with an opportunity to learn conversational English and visit some popular areas within Southern California.

Tutoring can be offered at my school site (Johnnie Cochran Middle School) located near downtown Los Angeles or at my home located in Old Town Pasadena.

Please contact me for further information.

Best Regards,

Ben Zapata
